

Study Skills Feedback

Tell us what has been particularly useful today.

Annabel's personal tips really helped because it demonstrated that creativity really can help. I found the SNOT chart very helpful, as seeing my strengths & weaknesses written down helped to enforce them.

Looking over different techniques to help with my revision and how to manage my time ~~for~~ more effectively.

Annabel was really nice and discussed in detail helpfully. It was fun and helped us to reflect on our own lives and realise our strengths and weaknesses. It was really interesting, enjoyed discussing things.

I found the revision techniques very useful as now I have many different techniques of revision so I don't have to stress as much.

Helping to write down notes in an appropriate way. How to help me study and concentrate.

The revision tips which will help me to build on my work at home and towards exams. I will use the tips to make me use my time more effectively.

I have identified all my weaknesses in revision so I can work on them.

Everything, it's been such a lovely experience. I've learnt a lot and it's really helped me.

Helped me think how much revision and home work is important.

Today has been very useful because, I learnt in more detail ways to remember things and that will really help for future.

Practising the different methods instead of just learning about them. Thank you for tips!

Any other comments?

This was my favourite part of the day. I feel that the interactivity really helped. Thankyou! :).

I think lots of people would benefit from this.

Annabel helped a lot and explained things in a lot of detail therefore I feel as if I have learnt something from it.
